Point Broadband to offer high-speed fiber Internet to the Springboro, Ohio area

WEST POINT, GA (Dec. 17, 2020) – Point Broadband, a West Point, Ga.-based fiber broadband company operating in 10 states, today announced plans to offer fiber-to-the-premises high-speed Internet for residents in Springboro and select areas of surrounding townships.

“In today’s digitally-driven world, fast and reliable fiber Internet is crucial to keep everyone and everything connected,” said Todd Holt, Point Broadband CEO. “Point Broadband is thrilled to offer residents and businesses in and around Springboro access to some of the best broadband technology available today.”

Once Point Broadband begins construction of its 100% fiber network in a new city, residents will start to see crews in the area. These construction crews may need to have access to the utility easements located on residential properties. Rest assured, the construction phase is temporary, and Point Broadband does its best to minimize any impact to property. Service offerings and construction plans are being finalized and will be released in the near future.

Point Broadband, which began in 2017, operates fiber networks in the following 10 states: Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Virginia, Ohio, Maryland, Michigan, New York, Mississippi, and Texas. The company is a proud subsidiary of ITC Capital Partners, LLC, who delivered the first telephone connection to its own rural community 125 years ago. Since then, ITC’s teams have launched and operated successful telecom, fiber, Internet and wireless companies across the country, competing head-on with incumbent telephone companies, cable operators and satellite providers. Point Broadband is now focused on addressing the problem its parent company solved over a century ago: bringing critical connectivity to small cities in rural America.
